

Ronda Perry

Sugarcane Grower

Moore Haven, Florida

She farms with her husband Carl, daughter Amy and son, Ross.

INTERESTING FACT

She grew up on a cattle ranch and has known Carl most of her life. Her family bought hay from his family for their cattle. Carl's family got back into growing sugarcane right after they married.

WHY IS SUGARCANE IMPORTANT TO YOUR FAMILY?

"It's a legacy for our kids. This is a fifth-generation farming family. And it's in our blood."

WHAT DO YOU WANT CONGRESS TO KNOW ABOUT THE FARM BILL?

"There are so many obstacles in farming these days. Regulations and labor. And we are up against the wall for everything. Anything that they could do, especially with the Farm Bill, to help us stay in business and keep our communities going, because we are the backbone of this country."
