FUN FACT

Wyoming sugar production really took off after the railroad came to Worland in 1906.

PRODUCING SUGAR SUSTAINABLY

Small grains are an important rotational crop that helps sugarbeet growers manage disease and weed resistance.

"We can compete with anybody, but I can't compete against the Brazilian treasury or the treasury of India. We need policy. Good solid sugar policy. We just want a fair shake."

- John Snyder, Sugarbeet Farmer, Worland, Wyoming
